BUSTS OF LINCOLN BY VOLK CREATED IN 1860

The substance of Lincoln feature articles which appear in the daily press is usually reflected in the contents of the correspondence which comes to the Lincoln National Life Foundation. Any item which calls attention to some supposed Lincoln rarity, with a monetary value estimated at a considerable sum, is bound to result in treasure hunts in dusty attics for similar pieces.

The New York Times for March 6, 1949 called attention to a Volk bust of Lincoln valued by the owner at $50,000. This exceedingly high appraisal is incentive enough to bring out of hiding for observation and valuation, scores of discarded pieces of old statuary made by the famous artist Volk, and busts of Lincoln made by any other sculptor as well. Inquiries are already reaching the Foundation about the valuation of Lincoln statuary and a letter now before the editor of Lincoln Lore states, "I believe I have a duplicate of this bust, insured for $50,000 by its owner. . . . I am taking the liberty of writing you for any advice as to whom to contact for selling same?"

Just what evidence was used by the owner of the bust mentioned in the Times to arrive at the valuation of $50,000 is problematical inasmuch as he admitted that he had paid but $5.00 for it originally. The bust is described as "a beardless plaster bust of Abraham Lincoln done in 1860. . . . Imprinted on the bust is the name of the sculptor Leonard W. Volk."

A statuary company in Boston advertised in 1909 replicas of the Volk smooth face Lincoln, 14 inches high at $2.00. A Chicago firm more than twenty years ago offered one 24 inches high for $6.50. It is difficult to visualize a plaster bust of Lincoln by Volk in any design now bringing over $50, to say nothing of $50,000.

A story of the evolution of Volk's works on Lincoln, from the original life mask made in 1860 to the variant studies of the full-length figures and contemporary replicas, would "fill a book." Even confining the data to a compilation of the many different models would take more space than this bulletin allows. Just a brief identification of nude beardless busts made as early as 1860 will be attempted.

Heroic Size Nude Bust

Volk's application for a patent on the life size nude bust originating with the mask, reached Washington on May 17, 1860, the day before Lincoln was nominated for the presidency. The application was accompanied by a picture of the bust which picture was signed by Volk and witnessed by Hiram Joy and John Vanannan. The application was numbered 1250 and captioned "Leonard W. Volk Design for a Bust of A. Lincoln." Attached to the picture was a statement entitled "Specification forming part of Design No. 1250, dated June 12, 1860," the day on which the patent was issued. The statement follows:

"To all whom it may concern:

"Be it known that I, Leonard W. Volk, of the city of Chicago, in the county of Cook and State of Illinois, have made or produced a new and original Design in Round Relief of a Bust Representing Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois; and I do hereby declare that the following is a full and exact description of the same.

"A 'Hermes' bust, viz., head, shoulders, and breast cut off below the pectoral muscles and without drapery or covering of any kind, the head slightly elevated and turned to the right.

"What I claim as my production, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is—

"The design for a bust as above described, and represented in the accompanying print.

LEONARD W. VOLK.

Witnesses:
Isaac D. Arnold,
E. B. McCagg."

The photograph of the bust which was made a part of the description of the patent issued, definitely places the completion of this bust several days before the application was received in Washington on May 17, 1860. The picture reveals that a card had been attached to the right side of the bust for photographic purposes bearing this inscription "L. W. Volk, Sc. 1860." Whether or not the bust was actually inscribed at this time is problematical. Obviously it could not have carried the patent date which was not known until the patent was granted nearly two months later.

This heroic nude bust measured 15 inches from the base of the bust to the point of the chin and 10 inches from the chin to the top of the head or 25 inches overall. After the patent was granted the date "Patented June 12, 1860" was imprinted on the right side of the bust and the inscription "L. W. Volk, Sculptor, 1860" was inscribed on the left side. This is the same design that was placed in a niche in the church at Hingham, England and dedicated on October 15, 1919.

Cabinet Size Nude Bust

The second stage of the nude Volk Bust was a cabinet size replica study. Apparently one of the earliest, if not the first one, was presented to Mrs. Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Volk was in Springfield, Illinois the day the President was nominated on May 18, 1860, and recorded this incident about his visit to the Lincoln home on that day: "I gave her (Mrs. Lincoln) a cabinet-size bust of her husband which I had moulded from the large one." This statement while giving primacy to the heroic copy does indicate that this cabinet size bust also preceded the patent. This smaller bust, of course, would also be lacking a patent date. Members of the Lincoln family are not informed as to what became of this presentation copy. Mr. Wilfred Thomas now has in his possession a copy of the cabinet size nude bust which he exhibited at the New York State Library at Albany in 1947. This bust however has the patent date inscribed upon it which would place it later than June 14, 1860.

Composite Busts

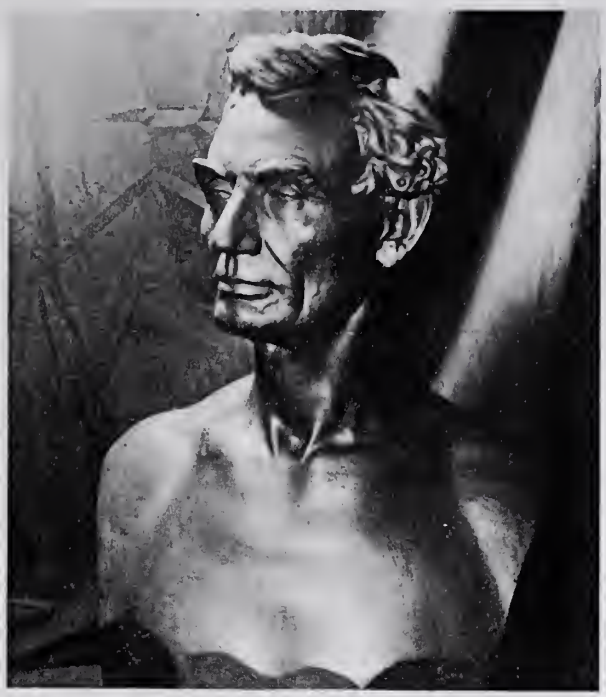
Leonard Volk's patent had not been issued a month before he discovered that it was being infringed upon by a vendor who was selling busts made by Volk's Lincoln head imposed on the shoulders and chest of Henry Clay. Volk immediately followed the vendor to his shop and with a mallet not only broke the newly made busts in stock but also the mold that was being used. Volk was brought before a magistrate and fined six and one-quarter cents for the use of the mallet. The Boston Morning Journal for July 4, 1861 printed a detailed story of the incident copied from the Crayon. How many of these composite busts were distributed before Mr. Volk began using the mallet is not known.

Later copies of the nude busts of 1860 were cut in marble and cast in bronze, but these later studies can in no way be confused with the plaster copy recently discovered in New York on which a fabulous appraisal has been placed.

THE "HERMES" BUST OF LINCOLN BY VOLK
No. 3

After Leonard Volk had finished his sculptured head of Lincoln, which was based on his life mask, he desired to make further measurements in order to create a bust.

According to the sculptor, Lincoln's last sitting was Thursday morning (April 5, 1860). Volk, years later, recalled this visit as follows: "I had finished the head, but desired to represent his breast and brawny shoulders as nature presented them; so he stripped off his coat, waistcoat, shirt, cravat and collar, threw them on the chair, pulled his undershirt down a short distance, tying the sleeves behind him, and stood up without a murmur for an hour or so.



"I then said that I was done, and was a thousand times obliged to him for his promptness and patience, and offered to assist him to redress, but he said: 'No. I can do it better alone.' I kept at my work without looking toward him, wishing to catch the form as accurately as possible while it was fresh in my memory. Mr. Lincoln left hurriedly, saying he had an engagement, and with a cordial 'Good-bye! I will see you again soon,' passed out.

"A few moments after, I recognized his steps rapidly returning. The door opened, and in he came, exclaiming: 'Hello, Mr. Volk! I got down on the sidewalk and found I had forgotten to put on my undershirt, and thought it wouldn't do to go through the streets this way.' Sure enough, there were the sleeves of that garment dangling below the skirts of his broadcloth frock-coat! I went at once to his assistance, and helped to undress and redress him all right, and out he went, with a hearty laugh at the absurdity of the thing."

It has been suggested that a "reminiscent pen" may have gone too far in this instance in describing the sleeves of the undershirt dangling below the skirts of the broadcloth frock-coat. Maybe he was not properly "harnessed up" for the street but the dangling sleeves make the description a little too grotesque.

Volk went to work immediately on a nude bust which he described for the United States Patent Office as follows:

> "Be it known that I, Leonard W. Volk, of the city of Chicago, in the county of Cook and State of Illinois, have made or produced a new and original Design in Round Relief of a Bust Representing Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois; and I do hereby declare that the following is a full and exact description of the same.
> "A 'Hermes' bust, viz., head, shoulders, and breast cut off below the pectoral muscles and without drapery or covering of any kind, the head slightly elevated and turned to the right.
>
> "What I claim as my production, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is—
>
> "The design for a bust as above described, and represented in the accompanying print.
>
> "Leonard W. Volk
>
> "Witnesses:
> Isaac D. Arnold
> E. B. McCagg".

Volk's application for copyright, witnessed by Hiram Joy and John Vanannan, was received and filed on May 17, 1860, the day before Lincoln was nominated for the presidency. This indicates that the "Hermes" bust was finished several days before the patent application was received by the patent office.

The bust measures twenty-five inches in height and is approximately seventeen inches wide. On the right of the base appears the words "L. W. Volk Sculptor 1860" and on the left "Patented June 12, 1860." Later busts modeled after the original were cut in marble and cast in bronze. Likewise, small replicas measuring twelve and one-half inches were placed on sale.

A cabinet size "Hermes" bust was presented to Mrs. Abraham Lincoln on May 18, 1860 by the sculptor, while Volk was a visitor in Springfield, Illinois. The sculptor recorded this incident: "I gave her (Mrs. Lincoln) a cabinet-size bust of her husband which I had moulded from the large one." This cabinet size bust must have been made from the working model in the studio and likely precedes the patented one. The present location of this bust, if it is extant, is not known. A cabinet size nude bust was exhibited by the New York State Library at Albany in 1947 but it has a patent date which Mrs. Lincoln's copy probably did not have.

The Women's Relief Corps, Department of Massachusetts unveiled in Boston a bronze replica of the "Hermes" bust in the Massachusetts State Capitol Building on March 28, 1912. Another bronze "Hermes" Lincoln bust was unveiled in Hingham, (Norfolk) England in a prominent niche in St. Andrew's Church. This was a gift of the people of Hingham, Massachusetts, commemorating the English Lincoln ancestors of the Sixteenth President.

The sculptor suffered many infringements of his patent and shortly after Lincoln's nomination for the presidency, Volk's head superimposed upon the shoulders of other men made their appearance. No one knows how many infringement busts were sold or are still being sold.

The Lincoln National Life Foundation has several questionable sculptural works which appear to be infringements on Volk's patent. (See Lincoln Lore, No. 1047, May 2, 1949 "Busts of Lincoln by Volk Created In 1860.")

People (August 1860)" and Harper's Weekly for August 25, 1860 published cartoons depicting Lincoln as another Blondin.

Even President Lincoln is reported to have used the name of "Blondin" as a means to put across a point to some visitors variously described as "perturbed politicians of the west;" and as "an excited delegation of clergymen." This disgruntled group, whoever they were, came as critics of the administration and they suggested the course which Lincoln should follow.

Hearing their complaints, Lincoln said at length, "Suppose all the property you were worth was in gold and this you had placed in the hands of Blondin to carry across the Niagara River on a rope. Would you shake the cable and keep shouting at him: 'Blondin, stand up a little straighter; Blondin, stoop a little more, go a little faster, go a little slower, lean a little more to the south'? No, you would hold your breath, as well as your tongue, and keep your hands off until he got safely over.

"The Government is carrying an enormous weight. Untold treasure is in their hands. Don't badger them. Keep silence and we will get you safely across."

CONDITIONS OF SALE

The property listed in this catalogue will be offered and sold subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. The word "Galleries" wherever used in these Conditions of Sale, means the Parke-Bernet Galleries, Inc.

2. The Galleries has endeavored to catalogue and describe correctly the property to be sold but it does not warrant or represent and it shall not be responsible for the correctness of description, genuineness, authenticity, authorship, provenience or condition of said property and no statement contained in the catalogue or made orally at the sale or elsewhere shall be deemed to be such warranty, representation or assumption of liability.

3. All bids are to be PER LOT as numbered in the catalogue, unless otherwise announced by the auctioneer at the time of sale.

4. The highest bidder accepted by the auctioneer shall be the buyer. In the event of any dispute between bidders, the auctioneer may, in his discretion, determine who is the successful bidder, and his decision shall be final; or the auctioneer may reoffer and resell the article in dispute.

5. Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance over the previous bid, may be rejected by the auctioneer, in his discretion, if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

6. The name and address of the buyer of each article, or lot, shall be given to the Galleries immediately following the sale thereof, and payment of the whole purchase price, or such part thereof as the Galleries may require, shall be immediately made by the purchaser thereof. If the foregoing condition, or any other applicable condition herein, is not complied with, the sale may, at the option of the Galleries, be cancelled, and the article, or lot, reoffered for sale.

7. Unless the sale is advertised and announced as an unrestricted sale, or a sale without reserve, consignors reserve the right to bid. Full commissions are payable as to all articles sold, and, if the consignor or his agent is the successful bidder, full commissions are payable to the Galleries to the same extent as if sold to other bidders, without distinction or preference shown to such consignors or agents.

8. Except as herein otherwise provided, title will pass to the highest bidder upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchaser's sole risk and responsibility.

9. Articles sold and not paid for in full and not taken by noon of the day following the sale may be turned over by the Galleries to a carrier to be delivered to a storehouse for the account and risk of the purchaser, and at his cost. If the purchase price has not been so paid in full, the Galleries may either cancel the sale, and any partial payment already made shall thereupon be forfeited as liquidated damages, or it may resell the same, without notice to the buyer and for his account and risk, and hold him responsible for any deficiency.

10. If for any cause whatsoever any article sold cannot be delivered, or cannot be delivered in as good condition as the same may have been at the time of sale, the sale will be cancelled, and any amount that may have been paid on account of the sale will be returned to the purchaser.

11. Unless purchased for resale, the buyer will be required to pay the Federal Excise Tax equivalent to 20 per centum of the price for which sold on jewelry, clocks, silver, gold, furs, etc. Items or categories in this catalogue subject to the Federal Excise Tax are designated by an asterisk (*).

12. Unless exempt from the payment thereof, the buyer will also be required to pay the New York City sales tax of 3 per centum of the price for which all articles are sold.

13. The Galleries, subject to these Conditions of Sale and to such terms and conditions as it may prescribe, but without charge for its services, will undertake to make bids for responsible parties approved by it. Requests for such bidding must be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding as to the amount to be bid and must state the catalogue number of the item and the name or title of the article to be bid on. If bids are to be made on several articles listed as one item in the catalogue, the request should state the amount to be bid on each article, unless the item contains the notation "Lot", in which case the request should state the amount to be bid "For the Lot". The Galleries reserves the right to decline to undertake to make such bids.

14. The Galleries will facilitate the employment of carriers and packers by purchasers but will not be responsible for the acts of such carriers or packers in any respect whatsoever.

15. These Conditions of Sale cannot be altered except in writing by the Galleries or by public announcement by the auctioneer at the time of sale. Neither the auctioneer nor any other representative of the Galleries, however, shall have any authority to waive or alter, in whole or part, any of the provisions of condition of sale No. 2 hereinabove set forth.

1. LINCOLN, A. Bust portrait; sans beard. Oil painting. Signed lower left: "Douglas Volk". Height, 19½; width, 16½ inches. Old frame, painted and gilded. Circa 1920-25 55

Depicts Lincoln at about the period of his nomination [1860] for the presidency of the United States.

This painting was found in the studio of the artist after his death.

THIS PORTRAIT WAS NEVER PUBLICLY EXHIBITED

2. LINCOLN, A. Oil painting. Half length portrait; with beard. Signed lower left corner: "Douglas Volk". Height 34 inches; width 29 inches. Gilt frame. Circa 1920-25 150

NEVER PUBLICLY EXHIBITED. A MASTERLY CHARACTERIZATION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN, depicted wearing a beard. Douglas Volk, 1856-1935, was baptized Stephen A. Douglas Volk, honoring the name of Senator S. A. Douglas whose cousin was Volk's mother. Leonard W. Volk, his father, was an intimate friend of the President. All his life he had been haunted by the personality of Lincoln, whom he worshipped.

Accompanying the above are the following letters: L.s. by Robert T. Lincoln, 1 p., Washington, Feb. 1, 1926, thanking Mr Volk for "the photograph of your recently completed portrait of my father . . . From the photograph I should say that it is an excellent portrait . . ." . ❖ A.L.s by Cass Gilbert, famous architect, April 21, 1927, to Mr Volk, reading in part: "I must not let another day go by without thanking you for the photograph of your noble portrait of Lincoln. It is the finest portrait of Lincoln in existence and superbly painted. When I saw it in your studio it gave me a real sensation, the pathos, the dignity, the deep sincerity of the man who has striven against overwhelming odds and won the victory . . . It is indeed my dear friend a master work".

Number 4—Concluded]

As a work of art it is thoroughly sculpturesque in style and possesses all the indications of being a most accurate presentment of the great man as he was before the nomination for the presidency of the United States, or before the heavy cares of State had added the furrows to his brow.

A great many accounts have been printed about this particular bust. A most interesting one appeared in the N. Y. Herald, Feb. 7, 1909, entitled "Register of Lincoln's Personality. Interesting Reminiscence by Douglas Volk, son of Leonard W. Volk"; the page from the newspaper accompanies the bust. Mr Leonard W. Volk tells how his father made the mask for the present bust, and details the entirc operation setting forth Lincoln's actions.

F. L. Bullard, in his work "Lincoln in Marble and Bronze", 1952, pp. 90-1, reprints Leonard W. Volk's account of the sitting by Lincoln for this bust.

Accompanying the above are letters by George Grey Barnard, Charles Biggs (who visited the Volk studio with Lincoln at time of the making of the bust), and Karl Bitter, all relating to the bust.

Also accompanying the bust are two typewritten letters by Douglas Volk, one signed in full, the other with initials, dated Feb. 21 and Feb. 27, 1931, pertaining to the bust.

A framed half-tone reproduction of a photograph of L. W. Volk in his studio accompanies the bust. On the margin is written the following by Douglas Volk: "Leonard W. Volk. Leonard Wells Volk carving the bust of Lincoln. He had previously (April 1860) made the life mask of Lincoln in this same studio in Chicago (1860). Cast of right hand of the nominee seen below on floor was made together with left, at Lincoln's Springfield home on the Sunday following his nomination . . . Douglas Volk".

5. LINCOLN, A. Original "once remove" plaster cast by Leonard W. Volk from the mold he made of Lincoln's right hand, closed, holding a section of broom-handle cut for the purpose. With inscription "A. Lincoln. By L. W. Volk. 1860".

Cast of the right hand of the great emancipator, showing the tremendous strength of character; the fingers are clenched, the hand knotty and determined.

Mr F. Lauriston Bullard in his work Lincoln in Marble and Bronze, 1952, p. 90, writes "On Sunday, May 20, the day after Lincoln received formal notice of his nomination, Volk came to the Lincoln home in Springfield to make casts of his hands. 'The right hand appeared swollen as compared with the left,' Volk tells us, 'on account of excessive hand-shaking the evening before.' Volk wishes Lincoln to hold something in his right hand, and the candidate went to the woodshed, sawed a few inches off a broom handle, and whittled the edges, so that the cast showed the hand gripping this round stick. For . . . these casts nearly all subsequent Lincoln artists are grateful to the ambitious young sculptor".

[See illustration]

6. LINCOLN, A. Original "once remove" plaster cast by Leonard W. Volk from the mold made of Lincoln's left hand, closed. With inscription "A. Lincoln. By L. W. Volk. 1860". Pieces chipped from two fingers at joints.

See note to preceding description.

8. [LINCOLN'S BUST.] Hickory Mallet used by Leonard W. Volk in making the bust of Abraham Lincoln in 1860. In a felt bag.

Pasted on the mallet is a typewritten note and another note in ink which reads: "Hickory mallet. Used by my father sixteen years in New York and Mass. Given me by him in 1847. Since time I have used it. L.W.V." below another note reading "Mallet used by Leonard Wells Volk in making the bust of Abraham Lincoln in Chicago 1860. Prop. of Jessie Volk . . ."

Leonard W Volk's father was a stone cutter who had done ornamental work on the stone of City Hall building, New York City, according to his grandson Wendell D. Volk.

Bump 375

9. DOUGLAS, S. A. Original Life Mask of Stephen A. Douglas, taken in Chicago, by Leonard W. Volk, 1857. In a dove-tailed oak box with carved decorations.

Incised on the inside of the mask is "S. A. Douglas 1857". On a wood bar (strengthening the mask at the jaws, and a part of the casting) is written, "Original cast. L. W. Volk". Incised beneath chin is: "L. W. Volk, fecit".

Attached is the following manuscript note: "Original cast (from life) of Senator Stephen A. Douglas, made in Chicago 1857 by Leonard W. Volk in his Chicago Studio. This is written by his son Stephen A. Douglas Volk . . ."

Accompanying the mask is the copyright certificate issued to Douglas Volk on September 16, 1907, describing it as "A life mask taken from the face of Hon. Stephen A. Douglas, by L. W. Volk, in Chicago in 1867".

Leonard W. Volk married Emily C. Barlow, a cousin of Sen. Stephen A. Douglas, the Democratic candidate in the election of 1860 against Abraham Lincoln. Volk settled in Galena, Ill., and there met Stephen A. Douglas, who became deeply interested in his career. "In 1855, supplied with funds by Douglas, Volk left his wife and child in Pittsfield, and went to Rome. When he returned to the United States in 1857, he opened a studio in Chicago and at once became a leader in art movements there. He organized the first art exhibition held there (1859); he was one of the founders of the Chicago Academy of Design (1867) and its president for a long time."

10. VOLK, L. W., American Sculptor. AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT entitled "Reminiscences of Leonard W. Volk". Written on one side of about 600 leaves, on six pads of paper numbered 1, 3, 6, 7, 9 and 10. A few leaves defective.

A MOST INTERESTING MANUSCRIPT. Each volume is accompanied by a typescript of the manuscript for easier reading. The owner writes "This is all of the diary which we brought from Maine. Evidently there were ten volumes originally. We have sent you six. I think there is one more in the country. If this one or more . . . are found I shall be glad to donate it or them to a party purchasing the others".

The first volume has a title-page, in manuscript, reading: "Introduction, Early Scenes, In Berkshires, Johnny Best, Return to Berkshires, Living with Capt. Farnham". Vol. 3 has

Vol. 6 is without title-page, but in it he describes his first glimpse of Abraham Lincoln and gives detailed account of it, his meeting with him, and his making of the life-mask of Lincoln. Vol. 7 has the following title-page: "Lincoln and Douglas campaigns; enlisting in three months service; death of Douglas, his last speech; In Camp at Cairo; Sanitary Fairs, 1863-75; death of Lincoln; J. 11. VOLK, L. W. Three scrap-books kept by L. W. Volk, covering the period 1855-1894. Together 3 vols., 4to, half leather; bindings defective.

INTERESTING MEMENTO OF LEONARD W. VOLK, WHO MADE THE BUST PORTRAIT OF LINCOLN AND MADE CASTINGS OF HIS HANDS FROM LIFE.

These scrap books contain newspaper clippings relating to Volk's bust of Lincoln, Stephen A. Douglas, etc., also clippings on art exhibitions. Included are catalogues of various exhibitions held in Chicago in 1859, 1863, and 1865, containing the listings of various sculptures by L. W. Volk. In that for June, 1865, is listed "The original bust of President Lincoln, in plaster, modelled from life, at Chicago, in 1860" by Volk. Also includes the passport issued to L. W. Volk on Aug. 11, 1855, when he made the journey to Rome, Italy, to pursue his study of sculpture. Included in these books are three letters to Volk by Alfred S. Waugh, the American artist, dated Nov. 14, 1850, Aug. 13, 1851 and Sept. 18, 1851. AN EXAMINATION MUST BE MADE OF THESE VOLUMES TO FULLY APPRECIATE THEIR VALUE.

On the covers of two of the volumes is a note in the handwriting of Douglas Volk, N.A., the son of L. W. Volk; reading: "Very precious documents and articles relating to father, L. W. Volk. Douglas Volk" and the other reading "Scrap-book of my father's (Leonard W. Volk), preserved by his son, Stephen A. Douglas Volk".

Passed

12. VOLK, L. W. Bust portrait, in oil, by his son Douglas Volk, N.A. (1856-1935). Signed: "L. W. Volk by Douglas Volk, N.A.". Height, 20; width, 16 inches. In a wood frame carved by the artist's son Wendell D. Volk from an Italian design.

A SPLENDID PORTRAIT. Pasted to the back of the frame is a label showing that it was at one time in the "Pittsfield Art League Exhibition" held in Pittsfield, Mass.

13. DOUGLAS, S. A., American Senator. Full length imperial size photograph of Senator Douglas, made by Gurney & Son, New York. With autograph signature on a piece of paper, and a printed note regarding the photograph, framed as one piece.

AN EXTREMELY RARE PHOTOGRAPH. In the "Reminiscences" of Leonard W. Volk, and as stated in the printed excerpt framed with the photograph, it was made in June, 1860. "The first prints from the negatives were given to me, the imperial which fortunately escaped being in the Chicago fire of 1871, now hangs in the entrance of my home formerly Senator Douglas's summer cottage at Chicago". Accompanying the above is another photograph of the imperial photograph, in 12mo size with an autograph note signed by Leonard W. Volk, April 9, 1890, regarding the photograph, and stating it "was the last photograph taken of him . . . and was taken for me". There is also a photograph of Douglas's birthplace, and one of the statue of him executed by L. W. Volk.

14. DOUGLAS, S. A. Five campaign medals with portrait of Douglas (in copper, brass and aluminum), and a tin-type photograph button of Douglas. Together 6 pieces.

15. OLDROYD, O. H., ed. The Lincoln Memorial: Album-Immortelles. Original Life Pictures . . . from the Hands and Hearts of Eminent Americans and Europeans, contemporaries of . . . Abraham Lincoln. Plates. 8vo, original cloth; top and bottom of backstrip frayed. New York, 1882

FIRST EDITION. Inscribed on front end-paper "To Stephen A. Douglas Volk from his affectionate father, Leonard W. Volk". Pp. 217-20. Contains an article by Leonard W. Volk. These two leaves have been extracted, and replaced on a stub

16. BARTON, W. E. The Women Lincoln Loved, illustrated, [1927] ❖ Abraham Lincoln and Walt Whitman, [1928]. Together 2 vols., 12mo, cloth. Indianapolis [1927-28]

FIRST EDITIONS, each inscribed by the author. Inscribed on the end-leaf of first work is: "To Douglas Volk, whose work joined to that of his father gives to the world a nobly permanent record of Abraham Lincoln. William E. Barton". Inscribed on the end-leaf of the second is: "To my dear friend Douglas Volk, with admiration and sincere regard. William E. Barton".

17. BARTON, W. E. The Life of Abraham Lincoln. Illustrated. 2 vols., 8vo, original cloth. Indianapolis [1925]

FIRST EDITION. Inscribed by the author in the first volume: "To Douglas Volk whose father gave the world an imperishable record of the face and hands of Lincoln, and whose own brush has interpreted the same great character. I, who have sought through another medium a kindred interpretation inscribe this portrait. William E. Barton. Foxboro, Mass., Oct. 12, 1925". On several pages in vol. II there are pencil notes in the autograph of Douglas Volk, who executed portraits of Lincoln, one of them known as the "With Malice Toward None" portrait.

18. [LINCOLN, A.] The Life of Abraham Lincoln, vol. 2 only (Tarbell), N. Y., 1904; with L.s. by McClure, the publisher, to Leonard Volk ❖ Portrait Life of Lincoln (Miller), Springfield, Mass., 1910 ❖ Gettysburg and Lincoln (Burrage), N. Y., 1906 ❖ and others relating to Lincoln. Together 14 vols., 4to to 12mo, cloth and wrappers; some with cover defects.

An interesting group, five volumes have the autograph signature of Douglas Volk on the end-leaf; one has inscription "To Douglas Volk, Minneapolis, from his father Leonard W. Volk. Chicago, Mch. 17, 1892".

19. [LINCOLN, A.] Latest Light on Abraham Lincoln (Chapman), N. Y. [1917] ❖ Abraham Lincoln, the Prairie Years (Sandburg), vol. 2 only. N. Y. [1926] ❖ What Lincoln Read (Wilson), Washington, 1932; one of 250 copies. Together 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, etc.

The first two have notations by Douglas Volk, the third has an inscription by the author presenting the work to Douglas Volk.

174. KING, CAPT. C. The Fifth Cavalry in the Sioux War in 1876. Campaigning with Crook. 8vo, original wrappers; backstrip defective.

Milwaukee, Wis., 1880

THE RARE FIRST EDITION, of which the author in the preface to the 1890 edition writes: "Only enough were printed to reach comrades who rode the grim circuit of the "Bad Lands' in that eventful year, and the little edition was long ago exhausted".

The author was first lieutenant of the Fifth Cavalry, and served throughout the Big Horn and Yellowstone Expedition of 1876. The resulting journal is one of the most interesting narratives of Indian warfare in the Wyoming and Dakota territory which has ever been written.

ONE OF THE MOST AUTHENTIC NARRATIVES OF EARLY NEW ENGLAND

175. LECHFORD, T. Plain Dealing: or, Newes from New England. A Short View of New-Englands present Government, both Ecclesiasticall and Civil, compared with the anciently-received and established Government of England in some material points; fit for the gravest consideration in these times. Small 4to, removed from a binding; title marginal defects, sig. L_2 (pp. 75-6) with small hole, damaging a word on each page. In a cloth folder. London, 1642

FIRST EDITION OF ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING AND AUTHENTIC OF THE EARLY NARRATIVES RELATING TO THE COLONY. The author, a lawyer, came to Boston in 1638, where he lived until 1641, and wrote this work. It is full of valuable information regarding the manners and customs of the colony.

The author was manifestly ignorant of the Bible, or perhaps thought that the English divines had added two to the Ten Commandments, for on p. 20 a note reads: "Whereas in England every Sunday are read in public, Chapters and Psalmes in every Church, besides the eleven or twelve Commandments, Epistle and Gospel, the Creed and other good formes . . .". The words "eleven or twelve" are crossed out with pen and ink, as in all copies, probably by the publisher.

FIRST BOOK TO USE THE DOLLAR SIGN

176. LEE, C. The American Accomptant . . . Designed for the Use of Schools, and Specially Calculated for the Commercial Meridian of the United States of America. Frontispiece, engraved by A. Reed. 16mo, old marble-paper covers; writing on verso of frontispiece. Lansingburgh [N. Y.], 1797

The first book to use the dollar sign, which is different from the sign in use today. Has list of "Subscribers", comprising six unnumbered leaves, forming sig. "Y" of the volume.

177. [LEE, R. H.] Observations Leading to a Fair Examination of the System of Government. . . . In a number of Letters from the Federal Farmer to the Republican. 8vo, removed from a bound volume.

[New York] Printed [by T. Greenleaf] in the Year 1787

RARE. Evans lists three editions issued in 1787, and the above is listed as the second, with the correct date in the imprint. With "from Col. John Bleecker, 1st Sep. 1813", on end-leaf.

178. LETTER TO A MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT on the Settling a Trade to the South-Sea of America. Pp. 14. 12mo, new marbled wrappers.
[London:] Printed for J. Phillips . . . [1711] 1250

A VERY RARE TRACT. Sabin, 40404, locates a copy in the John Carter Brown collection. After the "Letter" is given "Reasons to encourage a Trade from Great Britain, to the Countreys situate in the South Seas of America", followed by a "List of Comodities, proper for a Trade to the South-Sea". Listed by Rich, pt. I, p. 19.

179. LETTERS WRITTEN DURING A TOUR through the Northern and Eastern States of America (Drayton), Charleston, S. C., 1794 ❖ Notes on the State of Virginia (Jefferson), Phila., 1794 ❖ Regulations for . . . Discipline of the Troops (Steuben), Albany, 1803 ❖ and others all imperfect. Together 8 vols., 8vo to 16mo, various bindings; sold not subject to return. 1750

180. LINCOLN, A. Tribune Tracts, No. 4 . . . Speech of Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, delivered at the Cooper Institute, Monday, Feb. 27, 1860 [1860] ❖ The Letters of President Lincoln on Questions of National Policy, 1863 ❖ The Assassination and Death of Abraham Lincoln . . . on the 14th of April, 1865. By A. A. Abbott, 1865. Together 3 vols., 8vo and 12mo, wrappers and stitched. 4
N. Y., 1860-65

181. [LINCOLN, A.] E. EVERETT. An Oration delivered on the Battlefield of Gettysburg (November 19, 1863), at the Consecration of the Cemetery. 8vo, printed front wrapper only present: some text strains. New York, 1863 40

THE RARE NEW YORK EDITION. LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS appears on p. 40, and which Jay Monaghan in his Lincoln Bibliography 1839-1939, describes as "one of its first appearances in booklet form". The present appearance of Lincoln's Gettysburg address was, before 1942, considered as the first appearance in book-form, but Mr. Paul M. Angle, Historian of the State of Illinois, in his article Four Lincoln Firsts (Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America, vol. 36, First Quarter, 1942), describes a 16-page pamphlet published at the Washington Chronicle Office, about Nov. 24, 1863, and states "Certainly it appeared long before the carefully printed, 48-page booklet which has heretofore been credited with its first publication". The present printing of Lincoln's address contains the sentence "It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this", which is omitted in the first printing, in pamphlet form, issued by the Washington Chronicle office.

182. [LINCOLN, A.] Maple Leaves from Canada, for the Grave of Abraham Lincoln: being a discourse delivered by the Rev. Robert Norton . . . and . . . Rev. Robert F.
